How To Build Your Own Shed Mark Johnson

Not everyone needs a garden shed. But, if you've no more space on your garage wall for that new leaf rake, if you can't find your potting trowel because it fell behind the kids' bikes, and if your car has that forlorn, neglected look since the brand-new snowthrower moved in last fall, it's time to face the undeniable truth—your outdoor tools need a home of their own.

The design of your garden shed can take any form, from a simple lean-to to a large free-standing building. Ours occupies a modest 6 x 8-ft. area—enough for a variety of tools, but not so large that it dominates a backyard landscape. The straightforward design is easy to expand—up to about 8 x 12 ft.—to suit your storage needs.

This Ebook is your step by step guide on building your very own 6ft x 8ft garden shed.

Detailed step by step guide with pictures which will have you building your very own shed in next to no time at all.
