Claire Martelli holds a brown belt in jujitsu, and a partnership in a Denver-based architectural design firm along with the company's architect who just happens to be her eccentric and estranged husband. The divorce decree is imminent as she travels to Paris to purchase antiques for a resort project. Privately, she hopes the change of scenery will combat a plague of fearsome nightmares resulting from a vicious attack that's turned her life inside-out. But instead of finding balance in her life, she faces fear anew as she is hunted by an unknown pursuer on the streets of Paris and at the Residence Saint-Germain, an old Left Bank mansion-turned-residence hotel honeycombed with secret passageways that lead to an appalling discovery. With the help of an intriguing Englishman, a psychiatrist and noted graphologist who is currently lecturing the subject of handwriting analysis at university, Claire resolves to look to the past for answers on staying alive in the present - before it's too late.
